Director's Statement

A MESSAGE FROM THE DIRECTOR, INCOME SECURITY PROGRAMS

I am pleased to present 2014-2015 Income Security Programs Annual Report.

This report is intended to provide the public with important information on program operations and client services. It also highlights the progress made over the 2014-2015 fiscal year as we continue to implement our commitments in response to the Office of the Auditor General's recommendations made in 2013.

The Income Security Programs staff have been working diligently over this past fiscal year to deliver programs efficiently, while continuing to monitor and evaluate practices to ensure that Northerners are receiving quality services. We have:

- Put greater focus on transitioning employable clients into the labour force and making improvements to better support those who are unable to work through the Income Assistance program.
- Implemented significant enhancements the Student Financial Assistance program to support our postsecondary students and encourage them to return to the Northwest Territories upon completion studies.
- Seen an increase in the number of seniors qualifying for the Senior Home Heating Subsidy; ensuring that some of our most vulnerable residents are accessing the supports they need.

As Director, I am committed to improving accountability and transparency of program administration and taking a collaborative approach for improving Income Security Programs. Our programs recognize the importance of family and community in the promotion of self-reliance. Our commitment is to provide high caliber programs and services to help Northerners to become as self-reliant as individual capacity allows, to participate fully in community life, and to share in the opportunities available to them.

Best Regards,

Jolene Saturnino
Director, Income Security Programs

Report Overview

This annual report will detail program accomplishments, as well as review the organizational structure of the Income Security Programs division. The vision, guiding principles, and dedication of a service-oriented team are some of the tools that contributed to the continued support and growth of a self-reliant Northwest Territories.

Income Security Programs include:

- ❖ Income Assistance
- ❖ Senior Home Heating Subsidy
- ❖ Student Financial Assistance
- ❖ Senior Citizen Supplementary Benefit
- ❖ Northwest Territories Child Benefit/Territorial Workers' Supplement

For each Income Security program, an overview is provided that includes statistics on caseloads and expenditures over the previous five fiscal years. Significant program accomplishments are highlighted and future initiatives are outlined. Other pertinent program information discussed includes audit and compliance, and appeals.

The organizational structure of the Income Security Programs division is provided, and outlines the roles and responsibilities of the different units within the division. Staffing statistics are discussed and information is given on workplace safety and training initiatives. In addition, the appendix provides an overall summary of the commitments that were made to the Auditor General of Canada.

Vision

Income Security Programs, in combination with developmental opportunities, help Northerners become self-reliant as individual capacity allows, to participate fully in community life, and to share in the opportunities available to them.

Guiding Principles

- ❖ Encourage self-reliance
- ❖ Treat individuals with respect and dignity
- ❖ Have clear policies and procedures
- ❖ Target benefits to those most in need

While delivering quality service in the Northwest Territories is the primary focus, it is also important to maintain residents' confidence and trust in the integrity of the administration and delivery of Income Security programming. Service level standards ensure that the right person receives the right service or benefit at the right time and for the intended purpose.

Service Level Standards

- ❖ The Income Security Programs Division strives to:
 - Provide courteous, quality service;
 - Treat individuals with dignity and respect;
 - Protect personal information and correct personal information if there has been an error or omission;
 - Only use personal information for the purpose of determining program eligibility;
 - Welcome a friend, family member, or advocate to come to meetings; and
 - Work with clients towards reaching self-reliance.

- ❖ This will be achieved by:
 - Providing a response to applications no later than 2 business days of verifying all required documents;
 - If approved, issuing payment within the same timeframe;
 - Returning telephone and e-mail messages within 2 business days;
 - Assisting with filing an appeal if a client does not agree with a decision; and
 - Conducting periodic customer satisfaction surveys to ensure optimum service.

Income Assistance

Program Overview

The Income Assistance program supports Northwest Territories residents by providing financial assistance for the basic living needs of food, clothing, shelter, and utilities. The benefits paid to clients enable them to purchase food, clothing, as well as cover the costs of their shelter and utility expenses.

The Income Assistance program further supports clients in returning to the labour force by providing benefits for education and training costs, child care expenses, and record suspension application fees. Clients can also receive assistance with the security deposits needed to obtain a home, and a furnishings allowance to purchase household goods. Furthermore, additional allowances are also provided to seniors and persons with disabilities.

Table 1 summarizes the total number of distinct cases and total expenditures for the Income Assistance program over the past five fiscal years. Each distinct case includes a single individual or a family (parent(s) and child(ren)). The statistics show that the number of distinct cases has significantly increased in the 2014-2015 and expenditures have increased. This is a result of the continual increase in the cost of living as the Income Assistance program pays market rental assistance, as well as the actual cost of fuel and utilities. Additionally, clients are accessing Income Assistance benefits for longer periods of time.

Table 1: Income Assistance Statistics

Fiscal Year	Total Number of Distinct Cases	Expenditures
2010-2011	3,339	$15,288,971
2011-2012	3,321	$15,762,161
2012-2013	3,188	$16,160,994
2013-2014	3,092	$16,937,341
2014-2015	3,323	$18,213,654

Productive Choice

An integral component of the Income Assistance program is the participation in a Productive Choice. The purpose of a Productive Choice is to engage clients in activities that will help lead to self-reliance. Productive Choice activities support clients by promoting decision-making and accountability.

Productive Choice activities include participation in the labour force, wellness activities, unpaid community work, traditional activities, education and training, career counselling, and parenting or care of family members. Seniors and clients with long-term or permanent disabilities are exempt from participating in the Productive Choice requirement.

Client Services Officers work with clients to assess their individual needs and make appropriate referrals to community programs and services. When a client decides on a Productive Choice, Client Services Officers provide a range of services, which include:

- ❖ Helping clients identify strengths, challenges, and resources;
- ❖ Coaching clients to visualize a plan and goals;
- ❖ Matching client needs with service providers; and
- ❖ Promoting and supporting of client well-being through the development of skills and abilities to improve the clients' quality of life.

The Department of Education Culture and Employment will be reviewing the Productive Choice component of the Income Assistance program in 2015-2016.

Program Accomplishments

During 2014-2015, the Income Assistance program number of distinct cases showed a significant increase, as seen in Figure 1 below. Factors may be higher cost of living in the smaller communities and fewer economic opportunities.

In order to evaluate the effectiveness of the Income Assistance program, performance targets and outcome measures were established for the first time in 2013-2014. Focus was given to clients deemed to be employable based on their age and personal circumstances. The goal of the targets was to ensure that clients are moving forward in reaching self-reliance.

Over the past year, the Income Assistance program has successfully:

- ❖ Reduced case load traffic by over 50% by placing longer-term clients on different reporting schedules to ensure certain client groups are not required to report monthly; and
- ❖ Referred 50% of long-term employable clients aged 19-29 to career counselling.

Going forward to 2015-2016, Income Assistance will continue to refer employable clients to career counselling opportunities with a 100% referral target.

Audit and Compliance

Audit and compliance standards ensure staff are delivering programs consistent with the applicable legislation and polices, and to protect the integrity of Income Security programs.

During 2014-2015, the Income Security Programs Division conducted monthly Income Assistance file reviews which are submitted to the Director on a quarterly basis. Income Assistance compliance audits were completed in the communities of Fort McPherson, Łutselk'e, Tulita, Fort Simpson, and Fort Smith.

Income Assistance file reviews and compliance audits will continue in 2015-2016.

Appeals

All Income Assistance clients have the right to appeal decisions made regarding their eligibility and level of benefits. This right provides clients with the opportunity to verify they are receiving the appropriate benefits and that front-line staff are assessing them in accordance with program legislation.

The Income Assistance Program has two levels of appeal:

1. Social Assistance Appeal Committee (Committee); and
2. Social Assistance Appeal Board (Board).

There are 22 Committees with a total of 61 members that hear Income Assistance appeals for all Northwest Territories communities. Five members are appointed to the Board to hear appeals of Committee decisions. The role of the Committee and Board is to ensure the Client Services Officer has made decisions in accordance with program policies and legislation.

Clients have 7 calendar days to appeal a decision in writing to the Registrar of Appeals who coordinates the appeal hearing. First level appeal hearings must be heard and a decision rendered within 30 days of the filing of an application to appeal. Second level appeals to the Board have 45 days from the filing to be completed.

The following graph (Figure 2) summarizes the number of appeals heard by the Committee and Board by region for the past 5 fiscal years. The statistics show that the Committee heard the fewest appeals in 2013-2014. Overall, the number of appeals heard by the Board has been decreasing over the past 5 years.

Senior Home Heating Subsidy

Program Overview

The Senior Home Heating Subsidy allows low-income seniors pay for the cost of heating their homes. Eligible seniors are able to purchase a set amount of wood, oil, propane, gas, and/or electricity depending on their household income and the community in which they live.

Table 2 summarizes the total number of distinct cases and total expenditures for the Senior Home Heating Subsidy over the past five fiscal years. Each distinct case includes a single individual or a family (senior and spouse). The statistics show that the number of distinct cases has increased by 48 compared to the previous fiscal year, which is an increase of 9%. Expenditures have generally increased over the five year period.

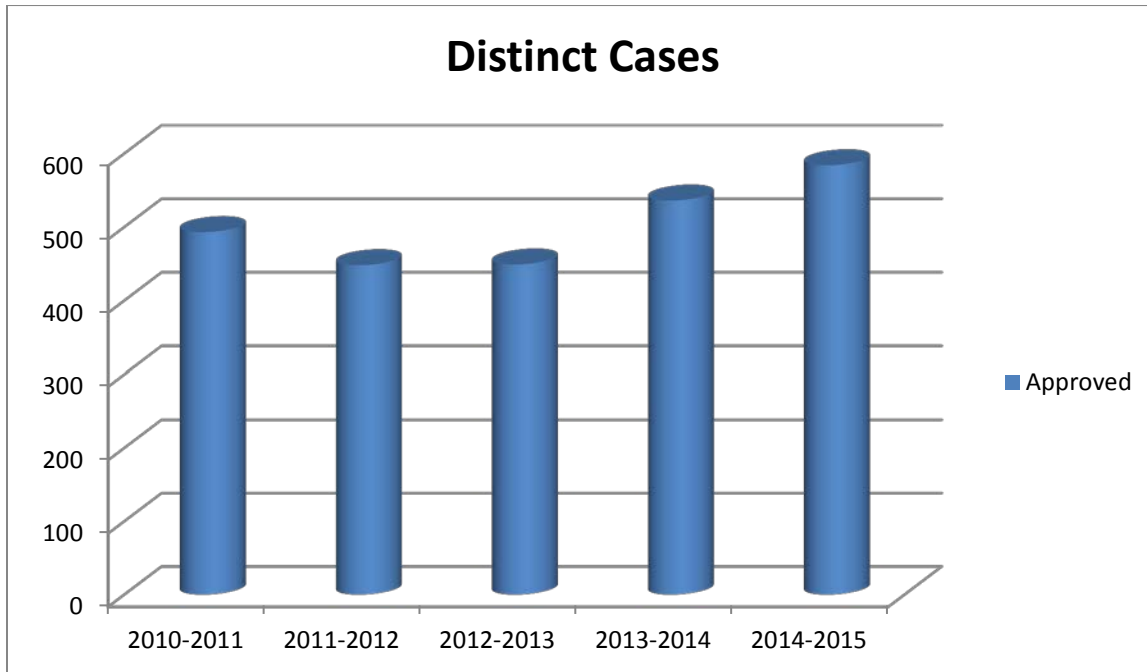

Table 2: Senior Home Heating Subsidy Statistics

Fiscal Year	Total Number of Distinct Cases	Expenditures
2010-2011	463	$1,126,994
2011-2012	448	$1,268,759
2012-2013	449	$1,261,461
2013-2014	536	$1,642,126
2014-2015	584	$1,657,503

Program Accomplishments

The Senior Home Heating Subsidy had the highest number of recipients in 2014-2015 as seen in Figure 3 below. This is a significant accomplishment for the program as a greater number of seniors were able to receive assistance with the high cost of heating their homes. This achievement is a result of key program enhancements that were implemented during the year.

Going forward, the Income Security Programs Division will continue to review administrative processes in order to enhance service to seniors.

Audit and Compliance

Audit and compliance standards ensure staff are delivering programs consistent with the applicable legislation and policies, and to protect the integrity of Income Security programs.

File reviews are conducted on a monthly basis and submitted to the Director quarterly. In addition to the file reviews, Senior Home Heating Subsidy compliance audits were completed in the communities of Fort McPherson, Łutselk'e, Tulita, Fort Simpson, and Fort Smith.

Senior Home Heating Subsidy file reviews and compliance audits will continue in 2015-2016.

Appeals

All Senior Home Heating Subsidy clients have the right to appeal decisions made regarding their eligibility and level of benefits. This right provides clients with the opportunity to verify they are receiving the appropriate benefits and that front-line staff are assessing them in accordance with program legislation.

There are two levels of appeal under the Senior Home Heating Guidelines:

1. A internal review by two or more Regional Managers; and
2. The Administrative Review Group.

Clients have 30 calendar days to appeal a decision in writing to the Registrar of Appeals who coordinates the internal review. Both levels of appeal are heard within 30 days of receiving the appeal.

There have been no appeals regarding Senior Home Heating Subsidy benefits at either the first or second level over the past five years. This is due to the fact that clients have the ability to have their file re-assessed based on their current year income, should they not qualify based on their prior year income.

Student Financial Assistance

Program Overview

The Student Financial Assistance program assists Northwest Territories residents in pursuing a postsecondary education through a combination of grants and loans. Student Financial Assistance benefits help students pay for their tuition, book, travel and living expenses. Additional grants are also available to students with permanent disabilities so they are able to participate fully in a postsecondary environment.

Indigenous Aboriginal residents are able to finance their postsecondary education solely through grant funding from the Student Financial Assistance program. Upon completion of their studies they will not be burdened with the repayment of student loans.

Students who complete any of grades 1 through 12 in the Northwest Territories can receive a remissible loan to help pay for their living expenses, in addition to grants for tuition, book and travel costs. Upon the successful completion of postsecondary studies, students are able to have their remissible loan forgiven if they reside in the Northwest Territories.

The loan remission component of the Student Financial Assistance Program plays an essential part in alleviating student debt. Loan remission has also become increasingly important in recruiting educated residents to return to the Northwest Territories after completing their studies.

The Student Financial Assistance program is one of the best student aid programs in Canada. Promoting the program is essential in making residents aware of the benefits of seeking a postsecondary education. Presentations and kiosks that provide program information are set up throughout the North. In addition, a Facebook page and revised website were launched in June 2014 to enhance communication with students and further promote the program. The Facebook page also is used to link graduating students with job opportunities in both the GNWT and private sector.

Table 3 summarizes the total number of approved applications and total expenditures for the Student Financial Assistance program over the past five fiscal years. Each approved application represents a student who received benefits during the academic year, which runs from September 1 to August 31. Expenditures are reported by the government fiscal year; April 1 to March 31. The statistics show that the number of approved applications and expenditures has fluctuated slightly over the previous five years.

Table 3: Student Financial Assistance Statistics

Fiscal Year	Total Number of Approved Applications	Expenditures
2010-2011	1,493	$15,564,412
2011-2012	1,518	$16,465,200
2012-2013	1,507	$16,371,424
2013-2014	1,456	$16,306,193
2014-2015	1,342	$15,685,695

Program Accomplishments

Over the past year, the Student Financial Assistance program has made a number of significant program enhancements to benefit students. The Student Financial Assistance program has increased the monthly living allowance for students and also increased the grant for students with permanent disabilities. In addition, the income test for part-time course reimbursement was eliminated to allow more students to receive assistance with part-time studies. The loan remission process was simplified to reduce the paperwork required for students to have their loans forgiven.

Going forward, the Student Financial Assistance program will review options for improving tuition and book rates to better meet the needs of students. The administration of the travel benefit will be reviewed to determine the effectiveness of current processes. A comprehensive review will also be undertaken to explore options for improving remission and repayment incentives with the goal of encouraging current students to return to the Northwest Territories upon completion of their program; thus enhancing the labour force and supporting the Northwest Territories Growth Strategy.

Audit and Compliance

Audit and compliance standards ensure staff are delivering programs consistent with the applicable legislation and polices and to protect the integrity of Income Security programs.

Student Financial Assistance file reviews are conducted on a monthly basis and submitted to the Director quarterly. In addition to the file reviews, a Student Financial Assistance compliance audit was also completed. Furthermore, 25% of all SFA applications are audited throughout the year.

Student Financial Assistance file reviews and compliance audits will continue in 2015-2016.

Appeals

All Student Financial Assistance clients have the right to appeal decisions made regarding their eligibility and level of benefits. This right provides clients with the opportunity to verify they are receiving the appropriate benefits and that front-line staff are assessing them in accordance with program legislation.

The Student Financial Assistance program has two levels of appeal:

1. Internal Review; and
2. Student Financial Assistance Appeal Board.

Clients have 30 days to submit an appeal in writing to the Internal Review. The Internal Review is comprised of departmental staff who review the file to ensure that the Student Financial Assistance Act, regulations and policies have been applied correctly.

If students are not satisfied with the decision made by the Internal Review, they may submit an appeal to the Student Financial Assistance Appeal Board. The Student Financial Assistance Appeal Board is composed of five members of the public. Students may attend the second level appeal, obtain legal representation, or have someone speak on his/her behalf, such as an advocate, parent, or friend.

The following graph (Figure 4) summarizes the number of appeals heard by the Internal Review and Student Financial Assistance Appeal Board over the past 5 academic years. The number of first level appeals has fluctuated over the past 5 years. The Student Financial Assistance Appeal Board has heard very few appeals over the same time period.

Other Income Security Programs

Income Security Programs Division has additional programs that are administered by the Federal Government. This results in a harmonized delivery system and application process for both federal and territorial benefits.

Senior Citizen Supplementary Benefit

The Senior Citizen Supplementary Benefit helps offset the high cost of living by providing financial assistance Northwest Territories seniors. A monthly payment is paid to low-income seniors who are receiving federal Old Age Security benefits.

Table 4 summarizes the number of clients and total expenditures for the Senior Citizen Supplementary Benefit over the past 5 fiscal years. The statistics indicate that both the number of clients and total expenditures have remained relatively consistent over the five year period.

Table 4: Senior Citizen Supplementary Benefit Statistics

Fiscal Year	Number of Clients	Expenditures
2010-2011	1,217	$1,956,548

2013-2014	1,206	$2,042,760
2014-2015	1023	$1,964,480

Northwest Territories Child Tax Benefit

The Northwest Territories Child Tax Benefit helps low-income families with the costs of raising children. Monthly benefits for eligible families are automatically attached to the National Child Benefit cheque received from the federal government.

Table 5 summarizes the average number of clients and total expenditures for the Northwest Territories Child Tax Benefit over the past 5 fiscal years. The data provided by the Canada Revenue Agency does not report on distinct cases for the fiscal year; therefore, the number of clients is based on the average for the fiscal year. The statistics indicate that both the average number of clients and total expenditures have continued to decrease over the past five years.

Income Security Programs Division Overview

Organizational Structure

Roles and Responsibilities

Headquarters

Policy and Planning Unit

The purpose of the Policy and Planning unit is to develop policy, conduct research and program analysis to improve Income Security programs. The unit provides strategic support to senior management, facilitates program development, and provides guidance to regional program delivery teams.

The Policy and Planning unit is responsible for the development of all communications materials. The unit evaluates and reports on Income Security programs and participates on multiple teams and committees, including federal/provincial/territorial groups.

Information Systems assists the Policy and Planning unit through the implementation of information systems and technologies. Information Systems designs and develops computer applications and reporting capabilities to improve operations of the Income Security Programs Division. Information Systems provides services such as Help Desk, database requests and inquiries, business processes, computer application selection and implementation, and web design.

Audit and Finance Unit

The Audit and Finance unit administers the forgiveness and repayment of Northwest Territories student loans. This is done centrally from Headquarters by three Finance Officers.

Through two the Program Auditor's, the Audit and Finance unit provides assurance that value for money for the GNWT is achieved and that policies, procedures, and program guidelines are adhered to. In addition, the Verification Officer provides verification support services by obtaining highly confidential information about clients and ensuring completeness and accuracy of applications.

Student Financial Assistance Unit

The Student Financial Assistance program is delivered centrally from Headquarters by four Student Case Officers. On average, over 1,400 applications are paid each year with two primary application intakes for programs starting in the fall and winter semesters. Student Case Officers travel throughout the Northwest Territories to provide program information sessions to parents and students. In addition, Student Case Officers liaise with high schools, postsecondary institutions, and Aboriginal governments and organizations.

Regional Delivery

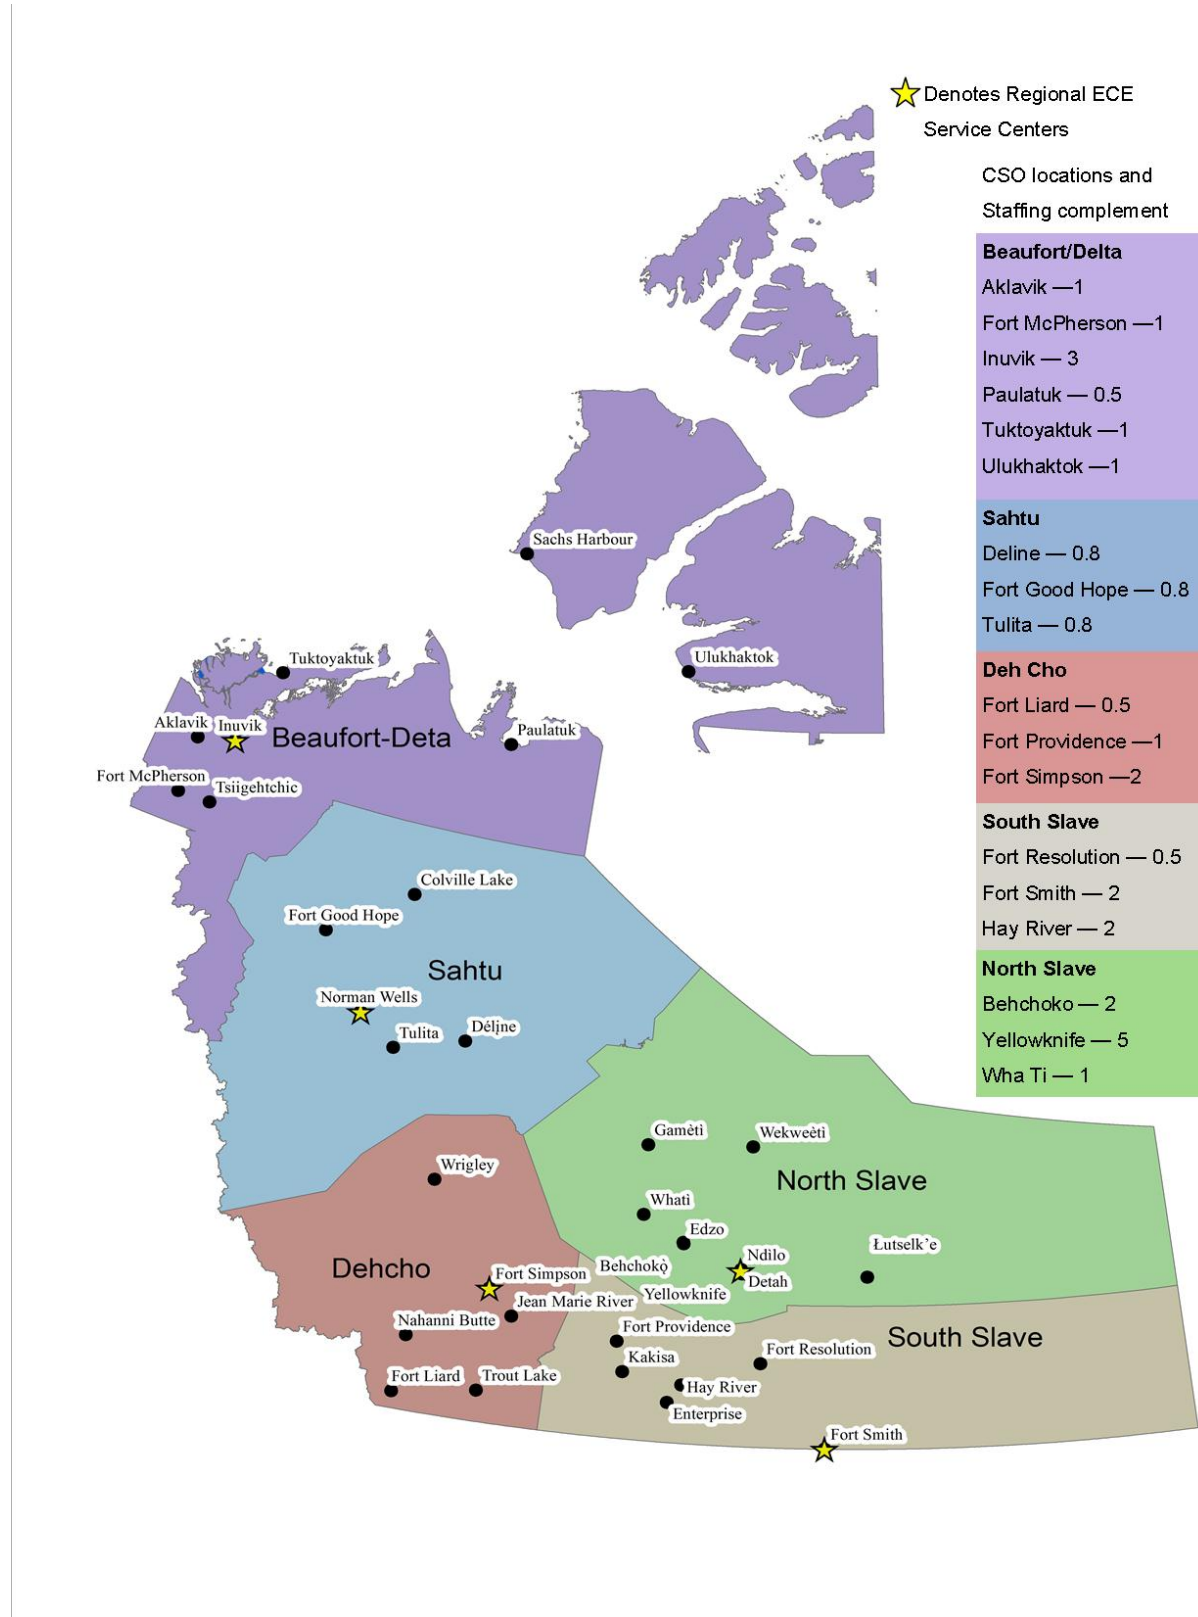

Income Security Programs Division Staff

Regional staffs are responsible for the delivery of the Income Assistance and the Senior Home Heating Subsidy programs. Each region comprises a Regional Superintendent, Regional Manager and Client Services Officers who determine eligibility for both programs. Client Services Officers also focus on the aspects of service management in helping clients reach the goal of self-reliance.

The five regional centres are located in Inuvik, Norman Wells, Yellowknife, Fort Smith and Fort Simpson. Communities that do not have a full-time Client Services Officer are able to access Income Security programs through telephone, fax, email services, or regularly scheduled visits from itinerant Client Services Officers.

As of March 2015, there were 28 Client Services Officers appointed under the Social Assistance Act, located in 18 communities in the Northwest Territories. This included three itinerant Client Services Officers who do not carry a static caseload. They are required to travel within their region, and sometimes to other regions throughout the Northwest Territories, to deliver programs when Client Services Officers are away from the office. The map on the next page (Figure 5) indicates the location and number of Client Services Officers.

Staffing

In response to the recommendations made by the Auditor General of Canada, the Income Security Programs Division created two additional full-time positions in 2013-2014:

1. A new Senior and Persons with Disabilities Support Advisor who will provide specialized advice on how to improve Income Security programs for seniors and persons with disabilities. This position will aid in the development of policies and procedures specific to persons with disabilities on a territorial wide basis.
2. An additional Program Auditor to assist with compliance audits. The Income Security Programs Division is committed to reviewing client files to ensure that programs are delivered in accordance with applicable legislation and policies.

Table 7 provides statistics on the total number of positions within the Income Security Programs Division. In 2013-2014, approximately two thirds of all positions were filled by Indigenous Aboriginal employees. As of March 31, 2014, all vacant positions were in the competition process and subsequently staffed in 2014-2015.

Total Positions	Indigenous Aboriginal	Indigenous Non-Aboriginal	No Priority	Vacant

Workplace Safety

The Department of Education, Culture and Employment has a responsibility to ensure that employees work in a healthy and safe environment. Discussion with some clients can be emotional and stressful, causing them to react in an unfriendly manner. Additionally, Client Services Officers located in small and remote communities often work in isolation.

In 2014-2015, Client Services Officers were provided with training that was designed to help mitigate risk and implement personal safety strategies, including:

- ❖ Mental Health First Aid;
- ❖ Non-Violent Crisis Intervention;
- ❖ Verbal Judo; and
- ❖ Workplace safety training.

In addition to training, several offices have been renovated and equipped with security measures such as, glass partitions, service windows, client interview rooms, and alternate exit doors.

Going forward, the Income Security Programs Division will continue to monitor workplace safety to ensure a safe environment for all staff.

Training

Training is a key component to ensuring Income Security programs are being delivered consistently and fairly across the Northwest Territories. The Department of Education, Culture and Employment will continue to provide ongoing training and professional development opportunities for employees.

During 2014-2015, Client Services Officers received training in 14 different training modules, both mandatory and supplemental. There were a combined total of 223 distinct occurrences of participation across all courses.

Training Accomplishments in 2014-2015

Throughout 2014-2015, several training methods were developed and improved in order to provide consistency and excellence in service delivery. These training methods included:

- ❖ Development of a Client Services Officer Competency Model, Skills Gap Assessment and Training Plan;
- ❖ Improvement to Statutory Training via face-to-face and online/distance delivery;
- ❖ Advancements in web-based training delivered through GoTo Meetings and ProProfs;
- ❖ Attendance at the annual Client Services Officer Conference;
- ❖ Creation of a SharePoint site; and
- ❖ Distribution of a quarterly Client Services Officer Newsletter.

1. Client Services Officer Competency Model

The model was developed to identify any areas for performance improvement so that employee skills can be enhanced in a way that meets or exceeds job requirements.

In 2013-2014, a detailed analysis of the Client Services Officer job description, legislation, policies, guidelines, manuals, and resources was undertaken. The analysis produced a list of competencies and personal characteristics that distinguished effective Client Services Officers and provided specific indicators for each competency. The competencies identified were then compared to the GNWT employee competency model and an assessment tool was created.

The assessment tool assists with evaluating:

- ❖ How the employee's behaviours align with the GNWT competencies;
- ❖ How the employee's skills and abilities align with the position's technical competencies; and
- ❖ What gaps exist between the employee's performance and the expected or optimal performance.

Going forward in 2014-2015, all Client Services Officers will have a training plan developed based on the gaps identified in the assessment tool. Additionally, a Student Case Officer competency model will be developed.

2. Income Assistance Statutory Training

The Department of Education, Culture and Employment requires all Client Services Officers to successfully complete a two-week statutory training course in order to receive their statutory designation under the Social Assistance Act. This designation gives Client Services Officers the authority to assess client eligibility, evaluate their financial needs, and issue payments.

3. Web-based Training

The use of technology in training allows for an accessible, flexible, customizable, and cost-effective alternative to face-to-face training. Go-To Meetings and ProProfs are software applications that were introduced in the 2013-2014 fiscal year to provide Income Security Programs Division web-based training.

In 2013-2014, Go-To Meetings was used to train 34 employees on the Document Storage Module, and three employees on Client Management and Administration System web reporting. ProProfs allows for the creation and tracking of quizzes and surveys and was used primarily for refresher training. Additional web-based training will be developed and delivered in 2014-2015.

4. Client Services Officer Conference

The annual Client Services Officer Conference took place February 17-19, 2015. The conference was attended by 26 Client Services Officers and 4 Headquarters staff.

Training included “Empowering Change – Motivational Interviewing” a workshop that focused on having collaborative conversations with resistant clients, multi-generational clients, and having difficult conversations with uncertain, vulnerable clients. Motivational Interviewing is a technique practiced to resolve a client’s ambivalence and strengthen a person’s own motivation and commitment for change.

The feedback solicited from conference participants was very positive. Additionally, Client Services Officers felt that the overview of recent policy changes and amendments was particularly useful and they appreciated the opportunity to provide suggestions; many of which have already been incorporated into the most recent policy amendments.

The next Client Services Officer Conference is scheduled for January 2016.

5. SharePoint

In December 2013, the Income Security Programs Division created a sub-site within the Department of Education, Culture and Employment's SharePoint. The Income Security Programs Division SharePoint provides a more effective and user-friendly portal for document and file management, collaboration, and online discussions. The SharePoint site became fully accessible to all Income Security Programs Division employees in early March 2014 and is used to distribute manuals, access standardized forms, and provide a forum for questions.

6. Client Services Officer Newsletter

The Client Services Officer Newsletter is a tool that allows for the sharing of information, best practices, and to reinforce important program changes. The newsletter also provides helpful reminders and strategies for improved health and wellness. Client Services Officers are encouraged to provide input and content for the newsletter. The newsletter is issued on a quarterly basis and is communicated to all Income Security Programs Division staff via SharePoint.

Conclusion

The Income Security Programs Division works diligently to ensure that residents have access to the services they need when they need them. Improvements in training, program compliance, policy clarification, and program evaluation were all steps towards providing a more transparent and accountable set of programs.

While 2014-2015 saw improvements to Income Security programs, there are a number of areas that require more attention. Moving forward in 2015-2016, there are plans to fine tune improvements to services by clarifying policies, procedures, and guidelines; continue monitoring client files for compliance and conducting regular audits to ensure clients receive the benefits to which they are entitled; and continue to provide training to employees that supports their professional development.

In the upcoming year the Income Security Programs Division will continue to enhance upon the performance targets for the Income Assistance program. Hiring of 5 Regional Employment Transition Officers will take place, their main focus will be to provide intensive individual supports to Income Assistance clients in finding work or entering in to training. A review of the Productive Choice requirement under the Income Assistance program will be conducted. There will be a number of Student Financial Assistance Enhancements to look forward to such as:

- Increasing Basic Grant amounts for tuition and book funding
- Increasing loan remission (forgiveness) rates
- Introducing a Northern Bonus for students returning to reside in the NWT
- Reducing interest rates for students who are residing in the NWT and
